Sorry!

- I hope you enjoyed the module, learned stuff and aren't too depressed about it all

- I'm really sorry that the technical community of which I've been part has produced this crap surveillance capitalism stuff

- I also hope it annoys you sufficiently that you think about how to do something more about it

Do Stuff!

- There are alternative tools and practices you can adopt with not too much work – do that! You are not at all near helpless!

- It's entirely ok that you don't try fix everything at once – as your interests and priorities change, figure out how you want to change your interactions with technology and the Internet

- And remember: you do have rights you can exercise that aren't much work

Thanks!

- Feel free to mail me anytime (next year, whenever) if there's relevant stuff with which I can help or you just want to ask something

Feedback

- If we've time…
  - What'd you take from the module?
  - What could've been better?
  - What was missing?
  - Was there too much of something?
- There is a TCD feedback survey or something for electives, apparently you got an email about that
  - I do look at those results, but find 'em hard to interpret being from a self-selecting subset of a self-selected set;-)
- Or, just send me mail (before or after you get your marks are both fine:-)
